Soon

Shearwater

When no one else would suffer me, I threw myself at your ankles. So still we slept and were at peace above the winter traffic.

Soon, soon, soon, come.

He treats his friends like customers, he treats me like a given, your letter read come down, you said, and let me know I'm living.

Soon, soon, soon, come.