

Still Willing To Try

Sheena Easton

The last time I took a chance on love, I gave it all I had
And still it ended with a broken heart
And I vowed I'd never fall again, cause I couldn't stand the pain
Of losin' someone I cared for, I'd be torn apart forever
Then came you, and I got that feeling again

Oh, I'm still willing to try love
What can I do when the road leads back to you
Still willing to try love, you are the reason I share this heart again

Somehow, the tears were not enough
I tried to put the pieces back together again, start all over
But you were a blessing in disguise
Cause now I look into your eyes and all my fears are gone
What a feelin', oh darlin', I want you to know, I'm leaving it all up to you

Oh, I'm still willing to try love
Oh what can I do, all the roads lead back to you
I'm willing to try love, you're the reason I share this heart again

Your love keeps me together, all that my eyes can see is you loving me
Over and over

I'm willing to try love, what can I do, the road leads back to you
Still willing to try, you're the reason I share this heart again
Oh, what can I do when the road leads back to you
I'm willing to try love, you're the reason I share this heart again

Still willing