

Natural Law

Sheila Nicholls

natural law, is stronger than anything we could devise factual no more can't cover up cannot disguise, authenticity, shallow surface package sold right back to me, in the land of the free, in the land of the free well who are we?

and Fidel say
and mirrors
decolonize your mind late one friday night I was holding on to this belief that there is still an antidote for all of this for everyone,

i seek intimacy, within myself, between my friends this planet's foreign policy

smoke..

it's not the GDP that gives life healthily, decolonize your mind you spout morality, existing statically, natural law is stronger than anything we could devise it's not the GDP that makes me healthily, see, decolonize your mind
redefine priority to find what's really free, give us intimacy, we'll love radically in the land of the free
