Copper

Copper, let us take you to a furnace where we'll break you, fir e's so big and Pretty, you could cry, As a buckle, you could ask me what was wrong with me before -Did I need the silver to be suitable? Copper, I have a use for you, it's easy work and it suits you, Dazzled dirty beauty, you must know Copper is a conductor and makes for decent cooking, Dazzled by your beauty still, you know, Plated or anodized, you even fool a layman's eyes, Presentable though you might be, it's unwise to try to fight me . Copper - you'll never be gold. *David Burrows
