It's just us against the world
If only I believed
Though we're far from comfortable
Never wanted to be

Give you everything you want It's not what you need And I know it's not your fault But you're so hard to please

So hard to please

After all we've said and done There's still so much to see Remember when we were young Now we're bored and hungry

Sit back and face the world What the morning gives me You will always be the one But you're so hard to please

So hard to please

I don't want to sink into denial
(We try to see right through it)
Carry us along til we decide
(Don't talk just get right to it)
Hiding all you feel behind a smile
(We try to see right through it)
Tell me what you think will make it right

What will make it right?

It's just us against the world It's just us against the world But you're so hard to please

So hard to please So hard to please So hard to please
