

The Way a Woman Loves

Shirley Bassey

When a woman falls in love with a man
She gives him all her loving she can
And this will always be the way a woman loves

Something makes her shine from somewhere inside
Until her face has nothing to hide
It's there for all to see, the way a woman loves

A man would love discreetly
A woman gives herself away completely

Everything she feels is there in her eyes, they speak of love
Yet only the wisest man can say he knows
The way a woman loves

A man would love discreetly
A woman gives herself away completely

Everything she feels is there in her eyes, they speak of love
Yet only the wisest man can say he knows
The way a woman loves
