It's that word that strikes fear into your mind
It's black

It's black

Fear, worship, obey, respect, kneel, believe... black
It's black

It's that shadowy appearance you feel, but you can't see
It's above and beyond you since you've chosen this path
It conceals of a powering strength and durability to an unknown degree

It's that word that strikes fear, into your mind
It's like heading into a tunnel leading only to darkness
Giving you shivers down your spine
You've experienced it before
Like you've been captured by that shadow
Boundaries are there to be broken
Admire that deepest fear

It gives you something to believe in...
Or something to be afraid of...
Black

It's that word that strikes fear into your mind

Fear, worship, obey, respect, kneel, believe... black
