The question they keep asking me

How can one so young be so bitter and angry

Well, the answer is plain to see

Maybe if they weren't so blind they'd see what I see

I see the homeless livin' out on the street

On every corner they're asking for money

I try to help them whenever I can

But sometimes I can't afford to help myself

I see diseases and modern plagues of our times

The greed of our leaders has made them blind

To our problems

They spend millions overseas,

People right here are fightin' wars everyday

I see the whites that hate the blacks Blacks against the jews, race against religion And there all too blind to see

When we fight each other it puts all of them at ease It keeps us so busy, so they can do what they please Election time comes and they're out for votes That's when you see and hear from them the most This is what they're calling a democracy That's just another word for hypocrisy We keep fallin' for the bait When we realize, it's always too late

I see the whites that hate the blacks Blacks that hate the jews, brother against brother And they're all to blind to see

As the rich get richer, the poor goin' hungry
I've seen the toll it takes on the workingman's family
Education system that's obsolete
Can't hold a kid's interest or keep 'em off the street
See a father's fear, hear a mother's cry
What kind of a nation lets their children die
Government's corrupt and full of red tape
Then you're gonna ask me why I hate

Why don't you open up your eyes so you can see Open up your ears so you can hear Take a look around and you will find Take a look around and you will find out why
