

Heavy Heart

Sidewalk Prophets

It never really was your intention
To let the chains of anger grow so strong
Now all you can feel is the tension
Between the struggle to be right and the emptiness of wrong
There's no need to fight
I pray the truth will set you free tonight

Don't let the sun set on your heavy heart
Forgiveness can find you wherever you are
Let go of your pride and step out from the dark
Don't let the sun set on your heavy heart

It wasn't just a single decision
One lie lead to another one
Life is feeling like a collision
Between the wall of lies and a bullet train of love
Just let it fall
I promise you that love will come and heal it all

Don't let the sun set on your heavy heart
Forgiveness can find you wherever you are
Let go of your pride and step out from the dark
Don't let the sun set on your heavy heart

This is the day that you've been given
This is about a new beginning
Look up and see the sunrise
Look up and watch the day light come

Don't let the sun set on your heavy heart
Let go of your pride and step out from the dark
Don't let the sun set on your heavy heart
Don't let the sun set on your heavy heart
