Beyond the North Winds

SIG:AR:TYR

I heard her call, I felt her breath I heard her song, the call of death Far from home, and far from life In fields of glory, my bloody tomb

She came to me... across the sea

From Valhöll she rode, from halls of gold To bear my soul, to His abode To guide my path, whose fate it weaves Through long-dead forests, and their graves of leaves

She came to me... across the sea
