Under the Mountain

SIG:AR:TYR

Deep in the darkness, where stars cannot see Where rivers flow inward, where souls cannot be Beyond the horizon, of fallen stars dreaming The dark sun burns brighter, than sky brothers gleaming

From star-born creation, to far end of time To dwell deep within us, to wait for the sign Under the mountain, and under the sea Our spirits lie sleeping, dreaming to be

The light that will fear us, and flees from our sight The strength of the ancients, the sacred birthright Far from the mountain, and far from the sea Awaiting the coming, the true Northern king