Overture / Rex Tremendae / I Saw The World's End

Sigh

Yes, I saw the world's end burned by them who want us to repent
Fear in my pain will rise again, insane
The end in flame is what we need!
Then I saw my brides smile
Blinded by lies their sanity dies
The feeble to deride
Deny the evil in disguise
I saw myself buried deep in the nameless grave,
But who will weep?
I saw all the stars fall then all the hopes they will reap
I saw the innocent in anger,
They were so sinless, hung so high
Then I saw the angelsin black
They were so sinful with a dirty smile
Live for lies!
Fight for lies!
Die for lies!
Change the fate, before its to lato late We'll see the worlds end (You will!)
I open my eyes to see through their lies,
But you know it's the world's demise!
I saw all the flowers wither and all the winners die in pain,
Crippled by those men insane
I saw the gold turn to dust,
All my lust lost in flame,
But hailed by our violent shame!
I saw the skies turn blood red as the forgotten prophet once sa id
I saw the funeral for all those precious things that had been s lowly cursed
Then I saw the world in flame,
No way to save it when I saw it
We all must burn!
We want the end!
Born in shame then purified in flame
Buried in a grave with no name,
Be lost in the void!
Salvation in flame, deception in shame
All the things I touched must burn
Deviation to be tamed
All the thing I touched must be cursed
