The Memories As A Sinner

Torture within No sign of fear Torture within No sign at all Repeated sins, I'll never regret Destined to win, or destined to fall? What I have lost to attain this fame What I have lost to play this game I have chosen to take their blame That their unholy blame for my holy name! I know I will live in fame even if I die in same I know I will live in fame even if I will never be the same See, I'm of the chosen few Now I've touched the truth What a fool you are to dream about the future that won't come Shame I have tamed, to live with this fame We welcome you here! Die, all the believers die Die all the deceivers die Die an eternal death Die, you you live for lies then fight for lies In then end you will die for lies Never wake up! I'll laugh last Live in your dream! No fear draws near Only death will wipe my tears away I'll burn in hell rather than weep in heaven. Curse me if you want I will never fear it I pray for power and glory I want them all in my grip The golden invitation you got for the one way trip Remember the place in hell is reserved for you; now I will walk alone I will fight alone What a fool you are to believe in the world that never exists! Fame I have chased and shame I have faced We welcome you here! Take my oath now!