Higher

I have given all myself All that I had left to give All the reasons I confront No more reason left to live If that ain't enough, oh, no, no Tell me why it's not enough

Even when you let me down I forgive you in the end What goes round comes back around So I'll wait for you till then If that's not enough, oh, no, no Tell me what would be enough Be enough, be enough, be enough

And what is love If you're still searching for something? And what is love If it's building up to nothing? We'll never see how far we've come But we keep looking at the sun So what is love If we're still searching for something?

Get higher, higher, higher We keep looking up Higher, higher, higher But we're still not high enough Higher, higher, higher We keep looking up Higher, higher, higher But we're still not high enough

Take my heart back from your hands And my pride back from your sheets I'll believe while I still can Taking back the best of me If this ain't enough, no, no, no Then I guess I've had enough, had enough Had enough, had enough

And what is love If you're still searching for something? And what is love If it's building up to nothing? We'll never see how far we've come But we keep looking at the sun So what is love If we're still searching for something?

Get higher, higher, higher We keep looking up Higher, higher, higher But we're still not high enough Higher, higher, higher We keep looking up Higher, higher, higher But we're still not high enough
