Grieving Beauty (remake)

Silentium

In a deep blue sea of her dwelling grief She's breathing the pain that flows in her eyes

Like the deepest fear that you've always felt but never shown And as you cover me with the wings of sorrow I shiver from cold

My pain, my sorrow, it walks with me, it lives through me Like the darkest moment of an autumn night that lives in me

"...Oh how beautiful she is Dresses in the darkness of her heart..."