

Learning The Lesson

Silver End

I'll bring you to sanity once again
If I find myself able
There's no need to act just to be like them
The world has left them disabled

Wounded and left for dead

They'll face it over time
With our relation torn
They have so many questions
They'll fall and start to climb
Confusion in them born
Without learning their lesson

The cleansing of tainted souls begin
No one will tell them they're sorry
Without consent they dug deep beneath their skin
Their mind is left disordered and blurry

Wounded and left for dead
Wounded and left for dead

They'll face it over time
With our relation torn
They have so many questions
They'll fall and start to climb
Confusion in them born
Without learning their lesson

Though darkness is strongest now
The power is in belief
A lighthouse to guide the way
A new break of day
A new break of day
A new break of day
A new break of day

They'll face it over time
With our relation torn
They have so many questions
They'll fall and start to climb
Confusion in them born
Without learning their lesson
Learning their lesson
