

Now & Then

Silver End

Time pass us by with a blink of an eye
And we're wondering where everything went
It lies in the now in the presence of goodbye
Looking back at the times we've spent

Rushing through days as we're loosing our ways
Holding on to things we did before
It laid in the past but it didnt quite last
Still somehow we allways want more

But I will try to live in the now somehow
Devoted to believe I can make it through
Remember me

Speeding through years with irrational fears
Hope is high the grass will turn greener
It finally clears as our chance dissapears
Just how long it has been since you've seen her

But I will try to live in the now somehow
Devoted to believe I can make it through
Remember me

You wont understand
Tumbleweeds are crossing on the street where I stand
Tried so hard to keep you close
Hope you remember (me)
Hope you remember
Who I am
