

Anything

Silverlane

Everywhere I turn Everywhere I go
I can't hear anything

All these things around Nobody there to talk to They don't know anything since the day you've gone There's just no one for me like you so I'm alone

I can hear your voice
when the wind calls your name
I can see your face
when I close my eyes again
I still feel you're here
even though you are so far away

Every day's so hard and I miss you so I miss just everything I'd give anything just to get you back here I'd give just everything

Since the day you've gone
there's no one just like you
and I miss you so

I can hear your voice
when the wind calls your name
I can see your face
when I close my eyes again
I still feel you're here
I feel it every single day I know you're so near even though you are so far away