

In the End

Silverlane

Our last breath on our last day when there's no time left to pray for rebirth or transcendence That final path, rise or descent no one knows where it will end In heaven or hell?

Longing for eternity right before the end We're falling into a deep black hole
We're descending to be free

When the end is near
will we see the light?
Will there be something worth waiting for?
When the end is near
will we see the light?
Will there be something worth waiting for?

Our life is fading into deep black We're falling deeper there's no turn-back From a world full of silence Immaterial, a second life Another chance on the other side
Is it heaven or hell?

Fall into infinity,
when we reach the light
We pray to god for paradise, we're transcending to be free
