

The White Lady Part 1 - A Ghost Appears

Silverlane

Tell me what's the matter, you woman in white?
Your eyes are so red from the tears that you've cried Your feet are sore from the way which you came Your lips are shaking Your heart is full of pain
... so full of pain.

Your mysterious beauty, your graceful hair
It takes my breath away
It makes me stay 'n' stare No, I'm not anxious, you're appearing to me It's more like a miracle, which I'm glad I can see

Embracing the darkness
I know that you're not heartless Waiting for your forgiveness you hold out in darkness Your heart is full of sadness, longing for salvation

There's no kingdom to come for heretics like you The things that you've done are still shining through Your grief is eternal It's your fate to be trapped in this old mansion and there's no way back

So were embracing the darkness...