

Arrivals

Silverstein

You're killing me kid,
But I know you're not trying to.
It's just that I've crossed out
More than I wrote down for you

And now I'm trying to play it off,
Like, "Oh, I wasn't trying that hard".
What I'm trying to say is
I was trying to say that you should come home.

I know it seems crazy,
But the weather changed as soon as I left
I'm even wearing a coat now
I think it's too cold to sit in front of holy oak.

But I guess you'll be here soon
So you can see for yourself
I just thought that you should know
If this is what happens when you go
Maybe next time don't