

Running Out Of Time

Simple Plan

It's just another day and it feels like you're still running late Cause the times are gonna change
And you're stuck in your own mentality

You can try to lead us on
But there's no one else to blame
We'll be left to clean the mess
When you're gone

Running out of time and you just don't get it
Now you're watching people die and you still don't care
We're running out of time and you just don't get that
This is how I feel
There's a million things I hate about you