

I don't really care if I fail at everything I try
I've got these dreams in mind
And they're the reasons why
I've got a feeling I could break this time
It's like the weight of the world this time
I need to prove I'm a fighter this time
I'll try to hold on tighter this time

So I'll sing, and I'll dance, I'll laugh, and I'll dream
Hold tightly to those, that hold on for me

What do I believe?
This time I won't let it go
Everything I believe in is holding on
It's times like these that I can't let go
Everything I believe in

I don't even know if this is real
Or just another lie I feel
Do I keep my doubts concealed?
Or do I let them out to steal?
Every single thing that I've been looking for
And everything that I've been working towards
So why is everything that I adore
Still everything that I ignore?

So I'll sing, and I'll dance, I'll laugh, and I'll dream
Hold tightly to those, that hold on for me

What do I believe?
This time I won't let it go
Everything I believe in is holding on
And it's times like these that I can't let go

I can't erase the things that I've done
Should I try?
I can't erase the things that I've done
When I look deep inside
I'm ashamed of the life I find
I can't erase the things that I've done
Never mind what I find inside
I still believe there's time

What do I believe?
This time I won't let it go
Everything I believe in is holding on
And it's times like these that I can't let go
Everything I believe in