

Lead Us to War

Sinergy

Lead us to war... ...war!
return home because war's where the heart is
lead us to war... ...war!
a procession fallen into submission

Black skies surround everyday there's no sign of the light that once embraced us Time is our enemy now without warning it carries us far away dig deeper into his hole falling faster and leaving ourselves to blame shackles of death hold us down use the anger inside to keep us war

A violent struggle to break free soon there will be some hell to pay we've had enough, so let us be we want to see the light of day

Lead us to war... ...war!
return home because war's where
the heart is
lead us to war... ...war!
a procession fallen into submission

Dementia slowly sets in we lay lifeless, allowing it to grasp us eating away at our souls one by one, growing weaker every moment the end approaching so near now at last we seek comfort in our madness the night encompassed by silence we have sunk to the bottom of this nightmare!

A violent struggle to break freee
soon there will be some hell to pay
we've had enough, so let us be
we want to see the light of day

Lead us to war... ...war!
return home because war's where
the heart is
lead us to war... ...war!
a procession fallen into submission