Swarmed

Daylight fading dusk awaiting swallowing my lucidness

Hell on earth dreams turned to nightmares petrified of existence

I see the shadows even though there is nobody else around

Take these memories from me and place them never to be found

I've been left here in ruins no one listening to my plea Can't escape the intrusion swarmed with anguish and frailty

Can't I break free? Drowning into hopelessness Let me believe in stability's caress Torment I breathe suffocating willfully Cascading deep this mirage I need

When the lights turn out hallucination is my only friend Heading down into a slumber hoping I will meet my end

I've been left here in ruins no one listening to my plea Can't escape the intrusion swarmed with anguish and frailty

Can't I break free? Drowning into hopelessness Let me believe in stability's caress

Torment I breathe suffocating willfully Cascading deep this mirage I need
