

Over You

Sing It Loud

Waiting patiently I'm falling gracefully to my knees and as I look back up at you nothing's coming through almost every time I try to figure out why I've hit the ground my mind is telling me something's got to change

Now I'm begging please, can you help me breathe?

I can't get myself over you you've got all that I need (something what you wanted) yesterday is something we will not forget so let's waste away the days and say
"We'll never get the chance to be okay" tell me anything please just anything kill me with the words that oh so gently make me feel at home watch me carefully singing baby we can't go wrong until my lungs give out and we crumble from within

I can't get myself over you
you've got all that I need (something what you wanted)
yesterday is something we
will not forget so let's
waste away the days and say
"We'll never get the chance to be okay"

I can't get myself over you
you've got all that I need (something what you wanted)
yesterday is something we
will not forget so let's
waste away the days and say
"We'll never get the chance to be okay"