

she was young she was sweet, dressed in black danced to the beat

she was fallen from the darkside

I kissed her lips, felt her skin touched her heart, i cant go back the world was turning upside down she healed my wounds she drank my blood

I'm leaving this world, a new demention calls

she can't see me,

she can't hear me

but she feels me

and the girl in black stole my bleeding heart

in the heat of the night

I touched her heart

I felt her lips

she came from out of no where she healed my wounds

she drank my blood

she can't see me,

she can't hear me

but she feels me

and the girl in black she stole my bleeding heart

she can't see me,

she can't hear me

but she feels me

she can't see me,

she can't hear me

but she feels me

she can't see me,

she can't hear me

but she feels me
