There Will Be Execution

When you're feeling wrong You think your heart is gone The sound of your voice is changing the rhymes

How does it feel to you when you don't know the truth How does it feel as a liar?

Don't you think the time has come? Don't you think it's a long way to run? There is just one evolution There will be execution

Can you look in my eyes Can you listen to me Just one step beyond and you can't reach the line

When it's said and done Now my time has come I wouldn't say anything bad anymore
