Summer Snow

It's summer snow in the deep blue sea I try to touch, but it fades away It must be a dream I will never get Just like my love that's crying for you

If there were something not to change forever We could feel it deep in our heart Today is over with a million tears Still everyone has a wish to live

Oh, I do believe everlasting love And destiny to meet you again I feel a pain I can hardly stand All I can do is loving you

It's summer snow in the deep blue sea I try to touch, but it fades away It must be a dream I will never get Just like my love that's crying for you
