

Stay Awhile

Sister Hazel

I've been working
Working overtime
To find who I want to be

You got something
Can't put my finger on it
That makes my mind feel free

I never thought I'd make it through the summertime
I've never seen so much rain
There you are and the storm is rolling away

I'm not gonna run, gonna look away, gonna let it out
What's done is done, there's a better day coming around It's taking some time to believe that there's something left of
me
Maybe you could help me I was thinking you could stay awhile.

There's a rumble deep in my heart
And it feels like a hurricane You're standing there with your yellow sundress on Taking the clouds away

What a feeling buried inside me
Been such a long long time
Now I know I couldn't turn back if I tried

I'm not gonna run, gonna look away, gonna let it out
What's done is done, there's a better day coming around
It's taking some time to believe that there's something left of
me
Maybe you could help me I was thinking you would stay awhile.

It's been years now, we're still together
Since that day you stayed awhile
And its amazing, you still amaze me.
That day has changed my life...

We're not gonna run, gonna look away, gonna let it out
What's done is done, those better days keep coming around It's taken some time to believe, but you knew what was best for me
Baby how you helped me, I'm so glad that you stayed awhile.
Baby how you helped me, I'm so glad that you stayed awhile.
