

I Draw The Line

Sita

Face to face, we can't reverse
We can't return into the past and do it over again
Where is the love? Do we need a miracle?

'Cause the intentions they were good
So, I don't know if I should resign myself to you

I draw the line, I don't know what to believe
My love was there for you, I've seen the signs
They're so hard to receive, my love was there for you, for you

Baby, we become strangers in so many ways
What can I say? The distance between us
Seems so immeasurable, just let it go

The intentions they were good
So, I don't know if I should resign myself to you

I draw the line, I don't know what to believe
My love was there for you, I've seen the signs
They're so hard to receive, my love was there for you, for you

'Cause it's over now, let it go of me now, it's over now

I draw the line, I don't know what to believe
My love was there for you, I've seen the signs
They're so hard to receive, my love was there for you, for you