I Surrender

A cooling breeze Runs through my hair makes me think of you You're always there All around me everywhere

It's in the air Your every kiss like a summer's day I think you know You take my breath away and so

I surrender to the power of your love I fall back and let you take me there to the place that I've been dreaming of I surrender When you look into my eyes I give in and let you take me there To a place where there's just you and I

It's in your eyes It's in your touch every word you speak My wish comes true Every second I'm with you

So easily You stole my heart now it's yours to keep I think you know You take my breath away and so

I surrender to the power of your love I fall back and let you take me there to the place that i've been dreaming of I surrender When you look into my eyes I give in anf let you take me there To a place where there's just you and i

Holding on to something heaven sent I don't never want this love to end I don't never want this love to end

Holding on to something heaven sent I don't never want this love to end I don't never want this love to end

I surrender to the power of your love I fall back and let you take me there to the place that I've been dreaming of I surrender When you look into my eyes I give in and let you take me there To a place where there's just you and I
