I'd rather died than to live in this fucked world Mr. President I'm not here to do your dirty work Alone, I think I'm fighting a losing battle Worth dying not for oil

NO WAR Amerika the brutal

Listen it's a fucking joke and they make you believe it on the TV

That's how they deceive you-

I watch and I listen and I question their reasons You know what, I don't fuckin believe em

NO WAR Amerika the brutal

When I want to know the future I look into the past I think of my best friend and his stories of Vietnam And now I got a cousin fighting in Iraq, and I want her coming back

I'm not afraid to speak my own mind
I don't use the first amendment to hide behind
I'm guaranteed that freedom, I'm born with that right
And for that I'm ready to fight
I'd rather die than to live in this fucked world
Fake president, I'm not here to do your dirty work
Alone I think I'm fighting this losing battle- worth dying?
NO WAR Amerika the brutal
