

Beside You

Six60

So he's going across to London
But she never crossed his mind
Eyes look to the future
But don't see what he left behind
She can't take it any longer
Now she's holding on for dear, dear life
So you should know that you got to let him go
Then it's gonna be alright

Outer change is for the better
And we all go different ways
But we all need something, oh, to hold
But if change is what you're after
Then she won't get in your way
But they all need something, oh, to hold

So she laughs at all the promises
And she smiles at what she's got
Hoping no one notices
That she's something that she's not
Now her thoughts are getting clouded
By the crown that's on her head
But I can't stay if you're drifting away
Oh, you're trying instead

Outer change is for the better
And we all go different ways
But we all need something, oh, to hold
But if change is what you're after
Then she won't get in your way
But they all need something, oh, to hold

To hold
Something, oh, to hold

Outer change is for the better
And we all go different ways
But we all need something, oh, to hold
But if change is what you're after
Then she won't get in your way
But they all need something, oh, to hold

Something, oh, to hold, yeah
Something, oh, to hold
