

Wolf at Your Door

Sixx:A.M.

You might bleed out with anger, you might blow your fragile mind
You wanna go faster, but you're running out of time
You can sink like an anchor, you can bury all the bones
You're out on a tightrope, you're out there all alone
And everything you touch is so cold

You might feel like you're dying, like you're digging your own grave
All bloodshot from crying, but the tears won't wash away
Everything is so bleak, but the sun is beating down
You think it's a murder 'cause there's bloodstains on the ground
And everything you touch is so cold

It's never too late to fall on your sword
You can't run away because the wolf is at your door
But don't be alarmed, you're not alone anymore
I'll be right by your side when the wolf is at your door
(It's ok, it's alright, it's ok, it's alright)

You might live with the danger, but you're dancing with the dead
You avoid medication so you're hanging by a thread
In the valley of darkness there is no promised land
I've seen my assassin, I've even held her hand
And everyone you touch is so cold

It's never too late to fall on your sword
You can't run away because the wolf is at your door
But don't be alarmed, you're not alone anymore
I'll be right by your side when the wolf is at your door

It's never too late to fall on your sword
You can't run away because the wolf is at your door
But don't be alarmed, you're not alone anymore
I'll be right by your side when the wolf is at your door

It's never too late to fall on your sword
You can't run away because the wolf is at your door
But don't be alarmed, you're not alone anymore
I'll be right by your side when the wolf is at your door
(It's ok, it's alright, it's ok, it's alright)