I Really Don't Want To Know

Skeeter Davis

How many arms have held you
And hated to let you go
How many, how many, I wonder
But I really don't want to know.

How many lips have kissed you And set your soul aglow How many, how many, I wonder But I really don't want to know.

So always make me wonder Always make me guess And even if I ask you Darling, don't confess.

Just let it remain your secret
But darling, I love you so
No wonder, no wonder, I wonder
No, I really don't want to know...
