

Gates of Thorbardin

Skelator

Fleeing before the vast Dragon Armies
Cities destroyed with fire and ice
Carrion beasts feast on the bodies
Surrounded by fear, no hope for their lives
I'd never seen man or elf before
We always fight for ourselves
For thousands of years
No Thain had decreed
That we should open the gates

The Gates of Thorbardin
Our mountains of steel
The Gates of Thorbardin
Tempered with blood and the will

They wander our halls of mystery and wonder
They're strange and deformed, they're weak and they're frail
But in my own heart, I know we are brothers
And when we unite, the Dark Queen shall fall
I'd never seen man or elf before
We always fight for ourselves
Together we stand with weapon in hand
And we will hold the gates
You maggots,
you filth, you disease
We'll chop off your ears, get down on your knees
My dragons, my armies, my slaves
There's no use to run, you run to your graves
Our fire, our acid, our magic Cower before our engine of pain
I have slain man and elf before
You can rot in that Dwarven cave
Together you'll die
As we rule the sky
And we will crush

The Gates of Thorbardin
Our mountains of steel
The Gates of Thorbardin
Tempered with blood and the will

You're gonna die
As we rule the sky
