A Little More

Love is all around you now So take a hold Hidden in our words It sometimes ain't enough Don't suffocate day after day It's building up Cause when you're feeling weak You know I'm strong enough

Just one more day One more day Oh, let the world crash Love can take it Oh, let the world come crashing down Oh, let the world crash Love can take it Love can take a little Love can give a little more

Love is indestructible So take a hold Sometimes hard to find A reason good enough I'll stand beside you Never leave through it all And faith will bring a way To the impossible

You can find me You can find me You can find me anywhere Take a look over your shoulder I'll be standing there Standing there

Love is all around you now So take a hold And faith will bring a way To the impossible

Just one more day (You can find me, You can find me) One more day (You can find me anywhere)

Let the world crash Love can take it Oh, let the world come crashing down Oh, let the world crash Love can take it Love can take a little Love can take a little Love can take a little

Love can give a little more A little more Take a little more

Skillet

Take a little more