

The city slipts.
Imperfections high as mountains block my view of you.
Forget your past as I only wanted you love me too.
Me too. I know I won't tell another mistake.

Embrace what comes.
You can't try, stretch yourself thin.
When will this end? You're on your own.
Listen to the guys you think you need.

Oh baby please, you gotta dis-aim.
I suspect that I'm being replaced.
I guess it's just a material game.
What is that hearted look on your face? Because, I can't live t his way.

I try. Try to kiss my fate.
Take what's there, to my death.
Help me. Take what's there, to my death.
Everyday, that goes past without your face.

All I want is out of reach. I can't reach.
You took this all from me. Now I want it back.
That was your chance. Now you are gone for good.
Come on, come on. You know that I'll find regret.

It's your's for the taking. Come on, come on.
This is not worth the waiting.
The streets run red with guys you ever did.
And they still get to hell. Now I watch your life dissent to he ll.

Come on, come on. I'll sip it all down the [unknown].
I'm your's for the taking.
Forgot our past, as I only wanted you to move on too.
No one needs you to move on. I'm moving, I'm moving on.

I can't live this way. That was your chance.
I'm standing still and there's nothing that I can reach.
With no one here to lynch on.
Reach. Savor this moment. Tomorrow is long.