Heavy

Skylar Grey

Now i've come to cry Shed your skin to rest my naked eye And criticize All that i implore Seems to be one foot outside that door Coming between me and waking

Underneath the corset of your mystery Piece by piece undress you from your history I'm sleeping with seclusion in sweet disarray

You can go heavy on me And i will not weigh you down, down, down You can be steady and clean I can take it Heavy on me And i will not weigh you down

Born unto this pride Silence is something you can't hide You can't deny...us Nothing has been said Yet so many words have filled my head Now they completely surround me

Tie the lines of honest conductivity Caught between the center of our gravity I don't have that much time to burn anymore