

Waiting For The Princess

Skylark

Walking in the land where the princess was born I will survive running straight to the north the Phantom of Death is coming riding the storm my friend there is no place to hide in the world

Lord you know the way to change this silence Lord I will know the princess of the snow