Memorize Your Lines

Sleater-Kinney

I've learned how to wait. I know not to beg I know I shouldn't ask why I wake up feeling dead (Say forever, that's a dirty word Will you stay here, that's a dirty girl)

Performance of your life, performance of my life Performance of your life (Act two, scene four line three I want this room, just for me, just for me) You said you'd never be mine You swore it to me until the end of time You said that love's never kind I memorize these lines, practice them every night

We can talk it out, tell each other lies We can just pretend today isn't goodbye (It will be soon, now heard that before You better polish your speech Before you hit the floor )

Performance of your life, performance of my life Performance of your life (Act two, scene four line three I want this room, just for me, just for me) You said you'd never be mine You swore it to me until the end of time You said that love's never kind I memorize these lines, practice them every night

Wont you tell me what are we fighting for? Do you want me here do you know for sure? (You said you'd never be mine You swore it to me until the end of time)

You know the coldest face is the worst to me And I won't calm down till I get to you You know that I wish I could undo this role Let's go back to what, what we came here for
