

Everyone has somewhere to be these days
Getting away from home they love to another place
And if you have to go Let somebody else know
So When you return I will come running

You say soon I will be with you
And soon I will be there

Everyone has seen the end these days
The television tells you half the truth through a beautiful face
When you say goodbye leave some of your things behind
As if to say you won't be gone so long this time

You say soon I will be with you
You say soon I will be there
You say soon I will be with you
You say soon I will be there

You know you don't have to go right now
Could stay tonight?
Just stay tonight

Everyone is seeing the end these days
They won't believe a thing that's not in front of their face
