

We're Still Here

Sleeping at Last

All of a sudden,
You changed my mind.
Pulled back the curtains
A little at a time.

You were on a frequency,
The perfect opposite of me
Though I never needed any proof
To trust the heart that beats inside of you.

Only one thing really matters:
We're still here. we're still here.
Against all odds, we're still here. still here.

There is color deep within your eyes,
A history that only you and I could write.
There is pigment in your memory,
The origins of our family tree.
Though I never needed any proof
To know the heart that beats inside of you.

Only one thing really matters:
We're still here. we're still here.

Through the static,
Through the ashes
We were brave.
Through the perils
Of endless narrow escapes,
We're still here. we're still here.
