

November

Sleeping with Sirens

Everyday is all the same
Like no matter what the reason is the seasons never change
I think of all the time I spent Drifting far away and zoning out as I'm clocking in
Tell my loved ones that I wish them well

There's a fire in this November sky
It's burning up, burning up
They'll remember me tonight
There's a fire in this November sky
It's burning up, burning up
And they'll remember me tonight
In this town
In this town

(Whoa, whoa, whoa, wooo...)
Their alarms ring in the sky (sky)
The voices sing the lullabies as the ashes learn to fly (ashes learn to fly)
And this will be my holiday
No more living with my fears because I gave them all away
Tell my loved ones that I wish them well

There's a fire in this November sky
It's burning up, burning up
They'll remember me tonight
There's a fire in this November sky
It's burning up, burning up
In this town
In this town

And the flames are running high
Red flashing lights light up the sky
And they will run to it
They glide and melt away
It's in the night

There's a fire in this November sky
It's burning up, burning up
They'll remember me tonight
There's a fire in this November sky
It's burning up, burning up
And they'll remember me tonight
In this town
In this town

(Whoa, whoa, whoa, wooo...)
They'll remember me tonight in this town
