

When we were kids
We always thought we'd stay best friends
But now we're all grown up
I never thought it'd be the way it is now

All the time we had spent growing up
Not knowing who to be
Now I see that I know just how I should feel

Now it's all gone
I don't accept the memories
Of the children that we used to be in our hearts