Ever Really Wanted

Slightly Stoopid

And if you ever really wanted, someone to call your own.
And if you ever really needed, while you were all alone.
And time and trouble did you ever think that you would be with your back against the wall?
But now your older, so much wiser now, the one who wants to mak e the call.
A little bolder now, cause while youre all alone, don't really know why you be holding on, to what was wrong.
And if you ever really thought that you would be the one with y our back against the wall.
But now you rolling through like you never knew what it was to lose it all.

And if you hear what the other man say, you better stop and see
And if you see what the other man see you know we must agree.
And if you do what the other man do, oh lord, we cannot be, the way that we wanted, the way that you need for the one that sho uld be.

Have you ever really wanted someone to call your own? Someone, something, some place, sometime!
We shove along, and live the life, when you need someone, someo ne to call your own,
My brotha, my sista, its good to have a place for home.

The lost and isolated, picking up the phone, but all I gets a r ingtone.
Ive got myself, but its always good to have a confident and a h elping hand, cause we need eachother, dont you understand well!

Hear what the other man say, you better stop and see.
And if you see what the other man see, you know we must agree.
And if you do what t he other man do, oh lord, we cannot be, th e way that we wanted the way the you need for the one that shou ld be.

We can hope for better skies and we dont see why others lie all day and night you cant deny these things weve seen through oth ers eyes
The long and windey road, is the road thats been less traveled on,
I said the long and windey road, is the road you take while mov ing on

And if you hear what the other man say, you better stop and see
And if you see what the other man see you know we must agree.

And if you do what the other man do, oh lord, we cannot be, the way that we wanted, the way that you need for the one that sho uld be.
