China Doll

Slim Whitman

I'm tired of cry-why-yin'
And all her lie-ie-iein'
That's why I'm buy-why-in'
A china doll

Her eyes are blu-you-uer Her faults are few-ewer Her lips are tru-uer My china doll

I'd rather have a doll of clay
That I could call my own
Than someone else just like you
With a heart of stone

She'll never lea-eave me She'll not decei-eive me And never grie-ieve me My china doll

No tears or sor-orrow No sad tomorr-orr-orrow No one can borr-orr-ow My china doll

Her eyes are blu-you-uer Her faults are few-ewer Her lips are tru-uer My china doll

I'd rather have a doll of clay
That I could call my own
Than someone else just like you
With a heart of stone

She'll never lea-eave me She'll not decei-eive me And never grie-ieve me My china doll