Wherein Lies Continue

Thou shalt not... Kill your fathers - destroy another life Question everything we clung to for years Live forever - design a better death Confuse a liar with a savior from fear Create a myth and separate the chosen ones Adolescent independence - Dominion I only wanna believe in fuckin' anything But now my conscience is contradicting everything

The ending's the same The world will not change The answer is clear...

Tell your mothers they have no sons or daughters Blame yourselves because your children are mine We are orphans, but we are not forgotten And we will find a way to save us this time We can run, but we are tired of running We're dropping seconds in a glass 'til we die We only wanna believe in fuckin' everything But we're alive and we're not accepting anything

The ending's the same The world will not change The answer is clear... Annihilation

I won't control or restrain things I do not understand Now I realize I'm stronger, better They gave to me now I give to you The means to burn the thoughts I had Now I realize I'm stronger, better, more

We have to save ourselves

I will never become another piece Inside the paralytic construct I hate Live forever? Well, I would rather die At least I'd know I wasn't theirs to create This is yours, but you had better choose Before they take away your right to decide I guess I'll never believe in fuckin' anything But my solace is I can handle everything

The ending's the same The world will not change The answer is clear... Obliteration

I won't control or restrain things I do not understand Now I realize I'm stronger better They gave to me now I give to you The means to burn the thoughts I had Now I realize I'm stronger, better Slipknot

I won't control or restrain things I do not understand Now I realize I'm stronger better They gave to me now I give to you The means to burn the thoughts I had Now I realize I'm stronger, better, more

We have to save ourselves