She comes running down like water
To splash around with the ones that taught her
She's just like that farmer's daughter
Everybody laughs at the joke

And we're laughing
She don't know what it means
She just knows that it's not what it seems

Everybody knows that she's going nowhere Everybody always tells her how much they care But all they really care about is growin' their hair And gettin' it cut

And we're laughing
She don't know what it means
She just knows that it's not what it seems

She's running down much faster
Home base is around the corner
All she can hear is laughter
And that's all that's in store for her

Sliding downwards, you're the batter That's what they say, 500 up on the ladder

She comes running down like water She comes running down

Everybody knows that she's going nowhere Everybody always tells her how much they care But all they really care about is cuttin' their hair And lettin' it grow

And we're laughing
She don't know what it means
She just knows that it's not what it seems

She's running down much faster
Home base is around the corner
All she can hear is laughter
And that's all that's in store for her
